Title:	80 villagers fall sick after eating momos from Dankaur shop in district Gautam Buddha Nagar, Uttar Pradesh
Action By CSU, IDSP -NCDC	Information communicated to DSU- Gautam Buddha Nagar, SSU-Uttar Pradesh

About 80 people from four villages of Dankaur fell ill after eating momos from a local vendor on Tuesday.

The residents, including a pregnant woman, from Talda, Jhalda, Bilaspur and Junaidpur villages started feeling uneasy after eating the momos and the chutney and some had to be hospitalised.

While residents claimed that at least 80 people had headache and loose motion, police said the number was somewhere around 20. The shop belonged to Talda residents Lokesh and Manoj, who had to shut down during the lockdown and had recently resumed business. Gaurav Kumar, who had fever and diarrhoea, said that people started falling sick from Sunday and some were being treated at local clinics. "Some 80 people fell sick from our village alone and from the other three villages around 120 people were ill," he said, adding that they went to meet Lokesh and Manoj but they were not to be found.

Dankaur SHO Arvind Pathak told TOI that the villagers have refused to file a complaint. "They also told us that the duo had escaped," the SHO said. Kumar added that Lokesh and Manoj are brothers and they recently lost their father in an accident. "We don't want the police to arrest them and so we didn't file a complaint," he said.
