As many as 45 students from a tribal Ashram school were hospitalised as they fell ill after consuming contaminated food at their hostel at Patnapur village in Jainur mandal on Wednesday. Their medical condition is learned to be stable.

Sources said that students had taken ill after having breakfast in which a lizard fell while cooking. The pupil had vomiting and stomach pain due to food poisoning. A total of 26 children were shifted to Jainoor Primary Health Centre and the remaining students are being treated at a camp arranged on the premises of the hostel.

Authorities of Integrated Tribal Development Agency-Uttoor rushed to the hostel and enquired about the incident. They instructed the warden and cooks to take steps to prevent similar instances in the future. They said that the medical condition of the students was stable.

On June 29 last, 51 inmates of an Ashram school fell ill after consuming contaminated food at their hostel in Wankhidi mandal. Despite the drastic improvement in the quality of infrastructure and education, these tribal educational institutions continue to register cases of food poisoning.
